Maximilian Koch

Solutions Engineer

Email
maximiliankochhome@gmail.com

Phone
(+34) 615 41 18 30

Address
Barcelona, Spain

14th June 2025

Dear SmartBear Hiring Team

I am excited to apply for the Solutions Engineer position in your Galway office. With a Computer Science background and three years as a digital solutions engineer, I bring the technical expertise and customer-focused approach needed to drive SmartBear's growth through compelling demonstrations and technical guidance.

In my role at VMware, I collaborated directly with sales teams on customer discovery calls and technical demonstrations, showcasing virtualization solutions that addressed specific infrastructure challenges. I guided clients through proof-of-concept implementations, troubleshot complex integration issues, and translated technical feedback to our product teams, experience that directly parallels SmartBear's need for someone who can explain the value of features, execute POCs, and bridge the gap between customer needs and product development. My ability to present complex technical concepts clearly helped drive adoption across diverse client environments, from startups to enterprise organizations.

What particularly attracts me to SmartBear is the opportunity to work with your comprehensive solution hubs and emerging HaloAI technology. Your focus on quality-driven software development resonates with my experience helping teams accelerate their digital transformation while maintaining robust technical standards. I'm eager to leverage my pre-sales experience and technical presentation skills to help SmartBear's customers.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to discussing how my technical expertise and customer success focus can contribute to SmartBear's continued growth.

Sincerely,
Maximilian Koch

Maximilian Koch